- 5.3. The Bank shall charge the Card Account with the amount of any Card Transaction made in Cyprus, within 1 Working Day from the date of notification of the Card Transactions to the Bank.
- 5.4. Payments into the Card Account will first be appropriated against interest and other charges or expenses due, and then against all other amounts due in the order they have been recorded on the Card Account.
- 6. Interest, Fees and Expenses
- 6.1. The Cardholder must pay to the Bank the minimum instalment stated in the monthly statement of the Card Account within the period stated in the said monthly statement. The Cardholder may, if he/she wishes, pay a greater amount than the minimum instalment or settle the whole balance of the Card Account. If the total balance which is outstanding on the monthly statement of the Card Account is repaid within the period shown in the monthly statement of the Card Account, then no interest will be charged on the amount of the Card Transactions effected during the month for which the statement is issued. Any arrears shall be included in each new balance, which shall include all the amounts of the Card Transactions made in breach of the Terms of Use, any instalments in arrears, interests and/or other charges.
- 6.2. The Cardholder who repays the minimum instalment or any part of the balance owed from time to time beyond the minimum instalment, will be charged with the agreed debit interest rate on the balance owed at that time, from the date of the carrying out of each transaction until the date of repayment of such balance owed. Therefore, interest will be charged on the debit balance of the statement of the Card Account, on a daily basis, at a variable rate of interest, such rate at the time of preparation of this agreement being% annually for transactions relating to cash withdrawals and% annually for other transactions. For calculation of the interest the number of days of each month shall be taken as the case may be and as divisor shall be taken the calendar year which is 365 days or 366 days in case of a leap year. Both the interest and the overdue interest will be capitalised, if not paid, every six months, on 30th June and on 31st December of each year and shall apply before as well as after any demand and/or court judgement.
- 6.3. In the event that the amount of the minimum instalment determined in the monthly statement of the Card Account, which is rendered payable pursuant to the present agreement, is not paid within the period stipulated in the monthly statement of the Card Account or if any payment made is less than the minimum amount shown in the statement of the Card Account, the Cardholder shall pay, in addition to the interest with which the balance of the credit limit is already charged pursuant to the present agreement, default interest at the rate of % per annum (the "Default Rate of Interest") on the amount of the minimum instalment that should have been paid. The Default Rate of Interest will be charged for every month the balance remains unpaid after the expiry of the specified period stipulated in the statement of the Card Account. The charge of the Default Rate of Interest shall cease on the date of the full repayment of the amount of the minimum instalment.

Example A

In a monthly statement of a card account the debit balance of the card account is €500 and the minimum installment is €50 (the minimum installment was determined, pursuant to the terms of the relevant agreement, to the percentage of 10% of the total balance owed as such shall be determined in the monthly statement of the account). The cardholder is obliged, under the relevant credit card agreement, to pay the amount of €50 within the deadline stipulated in the monthly statement of the account, but fails to do so. Therefore, for every month the amount of €500 remains unpaid after the expiry of the period specified in the monthly statement of the card account, the amount of €50 shall be charged with additional default interest at Y% per annum (that is Y% per annum over and above the X% per annum with which this amount is already charged as part of the €500). Of course, as soon as the amount of €50 is paid in full, the charge of default interest in that respect ceases immediately.

Example B

In a monthly statement of a card account the debit balance of the card account is €500 and the minimum installment is €50 (the minimum installment was determined, pursuant to the terms of the relevant agreement, to the percentage of 10% of the total balance owed as such shall be determined in the monthly statement of the account). The cardholder is obliged, under the relevant credit card agreement, to pay the amount of €50 within the deadline stipulated in the monthly statement of the account but instead of paying the aforesaid amount, he pays the amount of €10. Therefore, for every month the amount of €500 remains unpaid after the expiry of the period specified in the monthly statement of the card account, the amount of €40 shall be charged with additional default interest at Y% per annum (that is Y% per annum over and above the X% per annum with which this amount is already charged as part of the €500). Of course, as soon as the amount of €40 is paid in full, the charge of default interest in that respect ceases immediately.

Example C

In a monthly statement of a card account the debit balance of the card account is €500 and the minimum installment is €50 (the minimum installment was determined, pursuant to the terms of the relevant agreement, to the percentage of 10% of the total balance owed as such shall be determined in the monthly statement of the account). The cardholder is obliged, under the relevant credit card agreement, to pay the amount of €50 within the deadline stipulated in the monthly statement of the account and indeed does so (or pays a greater amount e.g. €100). However, for every month the amount of €500 that remains unpaid after the expiry of the period specified in the monthly statement of the card account, the said amount owed of €500 and the amount of the transactions made until the date of repayment of the amount of €500, shall be charged with the agreed debit interest rate stipulated in the relevant credit card agreement as X%, from the date of the carrying out of each transaction. Of course, as soon as the whole balance of €500 stated in the monthly account statement is repaid, the charge of the agreed debit interest rate in that respect ceases immediately.
